ASSEMBLY

Head:

Place the hair on the head as if it were a helmet and sew it around it, but before completing the union you must stuff it at the top so that it is bulky.

Sew the top tufts a little lopsided, over the hair and the forehead so that the tip is between the eyes.

Attached to the sides of the hair, sew the ears.

2 sc below the tip of the forehead tuft, sew the eyes, centered in relation to the face, leaving 10 sc of separation between them. With black yarn embroider the eyebrows, leaving approximately 4 sc of separation in relation to these.

Between the eyes, in line with the bottom of the eyes, sew the nose and 2 sc under it sew the mouth.

You already have the head completed.

In order to join it to the body, you must place it centered in relation to it and sew each of the 30 sc of the last round of the head with each of the 30 sc of the last round of the body. Sew one by one, but before closing completely, when you have 4 or 5 stitches to sew, introduce more fiberfill in the neck area, as much as you can to reinforce it well, because when sewing, the stuff tends to shift and leave the weakened neck. In this way, the neck is stronger and the head stable.

Arms:

Sew on the sides, in line in relation to the ears, leaving a 3 sc separation from the neck line.

Cloak:

Sew it from behind, over the neck line at the nape of the neck.

WELL DONE!
